

Clackamas County invites you to a community meeting with County Commissioners and staff* to learn more about and discuss:

The Sandy River: Past, Present and Future

Saturday, November 19, 2011
10 - 11:30 a.m.

The Resort at the Mountain
68010 E. Fairway Ave., Welches

Learn more about:

- Where the Sandy River has been in the past
- The importance of purchasing flood insurance
- What permits are required and how to get them
- What the County is doing to prepare for future channel shifts
- What you can do to protect yourself and your community

Discuss options for the future:

- Where will the Sandy River go next?
- What can I and my community do to make sure we have safe access?
- What options does the County have for continued repairs?
- What is the role of the state and federal governments?

*Representatives from other agencies, including the US Geological Survey and the National Weather Service, will also be present to answer questions.

Many thanks to The Villages at Mt. Hood for hosting this important meeting.
